Detailed document of RFP containing minimum requirements of Him-NLC and other Terms and Conditions

1. OVERVIEW

The Indian Himalayan region (IHR) represents a very significant part of the Indian sub-continent as it supports unique landscape elements, species, populations, communities, and ecosystems along with the rich ethnic diversity. The unique uniqueness and representativeness of biodiversity in the Himalaya has attracted the attention of people from all over the globe. The IHR also forms the large part of globally recognized Himalayan biodiversity hotspot. However, the regions is identified amongst the most climate change sensitive ecosystem, and the naturalness of this unique ecosystem is severely threatened due to ever increasing human onslaught. Realizing the challenges and emerging responsibilities of conservation of Himalayan natural resources, a number of initiatives are taking place globally and nationally. In this regard, among others, National Mission on Himalayan Studies (NMHS) has been launched by Govt. of India. This mission envisages establishing the state-of-art Him-Nature Learning Centre (NLC) in all Himalayan states. This centre would promote the outreach and enable to produce reliable and authentic information and knowledge products, which could subsequently feed into the provincial, national and international policies.

2. OBJECTIVES OF NLC

The main aim of Him-Nature Learning Center is to educate, engage, and empower community to positively impact their local environments. Specific objectives of the Centre are:

- Educate different stakeholders to understand our environment, our heritage, and our connection to natural systems. For promoting the conservation and management of biodiversity (representative flora and fauna of sub-tropical, temperate and alpine region of IHR)
- Engage people to actively use natural spaces by harnessing the available knowledge database and become stewards of the natural world
- Empower people to embrace nature, new perspectives, and sustainable practices by developing the training, demonstration and dissemination material
- Maintaining the knowledge sharing relations with other similar Learning Centres in IHR, country or elsewhere in the world.

3. STAKEHOLDER GROUPS

The following groups will be the target audiences based on different criterion for the proposed Him-NLCs.

- Types of Visitors: Local visitors, Regional visitors, foreigners, People from the cities, people from the Rural Areas;
- Type of occupation: Environmentalists, Biologists, School and University Students Teachers, Officials, Nature Educators, Farmers, Artists, Tourists, etc.
- Type of purpose: Education and Awareness, Entertainment, Professional development, Recreation etc.),
- Age and physical condition: Children, teenagers, adolescents, young adults, seniors, mixed groups, families seniors, physically challenged, etc.

The agency should also try to address to the following questions related to target audiences while developing the proposal.

- What are the needs of the target-group? What are they seeking?
- What do they want to experience?
- When they would come – during working days, on weekends, in the afternoon, during working hours, on holidays?
- How much time they would be ready to spend at the centre?
- How often the target-group would visit the centre?
- How many representatives from the target-group would visit the centre per month/year?

4. SCOPE OF WORK

The Scope of Work to be carried out through this EOI shall cover, but not limited to the following aspects:

3.1 Complete design of Infrastructure support for NLC

The concept of Him-NLC includes establishment of a World Class/State-of-the-art Learning and Interpretation facilities that covers unique and promising aspects of nature's diversity (i.e. biological, land and water, socio-cultural, etc.). The center needs to act as an education, demonstration and learning hub for different stakeholder groups (as specified below) on various aspects of natural resource management, biodiversity components, and sustainable livelihood options. Further, it is expected that the interpretation center is closely linked with an ex-situ and/or in situ conservation sites that caters to the need for on-site training, awareness and capacity building programmes for diverse stakeholder groups. In view of this, the center may also include infrastructure for: interactive indoor and outdoor learning facilities, botanical garden, arboretum, herbal Garden and any other creative learning facilities, etc. In general, the infrastructure needs to be proposed in a way to (i) Inculcate appreciation for nature; (ii) Motivate people to contribute for nature; (iii) Building capacities and skills.

As such no new buildings are proposed to be created in this program, but refabrication and retrofitting in existing buildings of State Govt. agencies can be suggested.

3.2. Full template of Him-NLC Activities

The Him-NLC Template/Model needs to elaborate on the necessary and standard activities components with annual timeframe. The template should also cover activity elements, some of the examples are as follows:

Activity	Indicative elements not limited to
Educations & Awareness	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Nature trails • Nature Camping • Stakeholders' Workshops/Seminars • On-site Nature Interpretations
Skill Development & Capacity Building	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Training on biodiversity assessment, livelihood promotion, etc. • Nature Guide Training • Skill Promotions on local art-culture

Based on such crucial activities, an annual event calendar needs to be proposed covering all essential features and respective activities to be performed mandatorily. This should essentially include the stakeholder feedback mechanism.

3.3 Detailed template for Him-Information Center

This forms one of the important components of Him-NLC, therefore, the Him-NLC Template/Design must include the ways and means of using latest Information Technology tools and techniques not only to enhance the outreach but also to effectively update the information in participatory manner at the broader scale and range. For instance, following may form the part of Him-Information Center.

Features	Elements
Learning and information facilities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Complete technical set-up for Smart Classes for Nature interpretation and learning using state of art ICT tools
Dynamic Displays/Web Portal/ Database	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • User-friendly interactive display of all digital database of state biodiversity and other natural resources • User-friendly interactive display of best practices on Natural resource management and use of Indigenous Knowledge of the region (All these should also include provision for real time stakeholders/ participants inputs)
